Chapter 1 - Helen, the Woman Born in the Lands Behind the Ice Walls

09:15 AM marked the clock in this suffocating and sad gray room, my eyes barely opened and they somehow tried to give me an overview of where I really was. I must admit that every day I find it more difficult to adapt to this world, my mind takes minutes to realize that I am back in the "Walled Lands" where my ancestors walked.

I found a rolled up newspaper on the door that said June 22nd, that's how they count the days here, each one faithful to their so pigeonholed grid, where it seems that nothing can get out of the script, that mundane script that they created for the forced partners of this abyss, dark and sinister, a humanity that seems to bleed day by day without realizing that it collides every day against the crude reality that they let long ago all this become something immovable, This cannot be called life, I thought to myself every time I visit the lands where my father was born, my grandparents, my ancestors, those who left their lives to see a free humanity, and I find this, it hurts my heart to imagine the bones of my brothers who must still be buried here in these lands, who left their lives so that everything would be different. Curious way of living I thought while turning on and off a small lamp next to an old bed, here without a doubt there is a strange way of creating a false need for objects. This humanity seems to be paying for the sin of its past having tried to be free, I understand that, although it is very unfair and it is a thorn in the side of all of us who come from the other side, the free side behind the Walls of Ice.

"Pay for a place where they were born" this phrase went round and round in my head, that's why I knew well the faces of those adventurers who managed to find the other lands, the lands of the Giants, or the lands where I was born so many miles away from here, but a very high price had to be paid, that's why I come back, that's why my father died leaving his legacy, we never forget the new humanity that was born in these lands deprived of their freedom and their true history, maybe it is time to start opening those "walls of fear" as I like to call them, that terrify us for a past where a war was lost, but freedom was won, that the dead have not been in vain or forgotten as the Custodians want, they buried a large part of human history and manipulated it, and worst of all is that they convinced them and now many defend this history and the soil they inhabit. This world is a very difficult place to survive, in addition to a high toxicity in what you breathe, eat, drink, there are also enough dangers that make it an unfriendly place and for those who manage to escape, with little desire to return, but as I always say, in my heart I have these lands so rooted, when I step on this ground I reconnect with my past, with my dear father, William Morris, who swore to defend and rescue this new humanity from the parasitic hands of the Custodians.

Also, the amount of wars that were lived throughout the years and are still being lived is really detestable, how they manipulate even in such a basic way as putting different colors in imaginary limits.

or beliefs of all kinds to divide, with that you can only generate that millions of people lose their lives even many voluntarily thinking they do it in a just cause.

The only just cause is freedom, and that freedom can only be achieved by tearing down the curtains around these lands, lifting the veil comes at a high price, but it is always worth knowing the truth, even if this is the last thing I can write.

How many innocent people have given their lives for this cause? Who does not want to know the true story of our past?

In this book I will try to bring clarity, as much as possible on the subject of the "Known Lands" and the "Other Worlds" behind the walls of Ice, I will also try to leave detail of everything we know about the civilizations of each of these, also called, "and a brief history of which we got to know, thanks to the book of "She-Ki" the Giant-Human who gave my father the knowledge that nobody knows in this new humanity, due to the great existing manipulation and the strong conditioning that they exploit from children.

The important thing is that only one person I have met who was really interested in listening to my story, even though I had not revealed my real name or where I had come from, we had been studying this new humanity for a long time, we would not trust this long investigation and information if we did not know that it will be delivered with all the respect and in the way we want, besides that it takes urgency, we are not here to scare anyone, nor give dates of cataclysms or "resets" (or restarts), but we are aware and understand that the situation of recent years is increasingly delicate, we understand that this process can be accelerated and we are aware of the causes and resulting effects, in case I did not introduce myself yet, my name is Helen Morris, daughter of the navigator William and born in lands that surely you do not know almost 8000 kilometers behind the walls of ice in the direction you know as "South".

Before I take you on the path of the "Terra-Infinita" and its history, you must understand that much of these texts will not go in line with what you have learned in this "circle-environment" (I will also explain where this term comes from), much of the history told here is possible for you to keep to yourself and that this book can open up this cause. Much of the story still lives with you, because you were also part of it in some way, only that you have been put to sleep, completely anesthetized, to such an extent that living this life seems normal, a life that one seems to base merely on robotic, repetitive actions, very few are based on love and empathy, the division is every day easier and for any reason, and the big media take advantage of any of these weaknesses that have been exploiting for a long time.

It is important that you can contrast this information, you should not believe anything about us, but you should question everything, what you have learned so far and what they will want to make you learn by force, always try to surround yourself with people who not only deliver a message of empathy and love, but who really carry it forward and do not generate any division. So do not be surprised if any of this sounds familiar, embrace the ideas that you like the most, embrace them tightly and always trust what you feel, what comes from your heart, your mind will try to manipulate and confuse you.

My father left these lands in times of war, and when I returned I found it almost in the same situation, as you will see, the security that one seeks in times of war, is the same that generates them, in other words, there is no such security from any country, or government, or political party, or any leader of any kind, it is only you humans against those who pull the strings from the dark (today), called "Custodians", "The Watchers", "Watchers", "Caretakers", "The Corrupt Brotherhood", "The Tree Protectors", "Kuijas", "The Energy Absorbers", and I think I have heard many other terms, but we will stick with the first of them, although I usually call them "the parasitic race", it fits them perfectly. They are here since almost the beginning of humanity, and whether we like it or not, they manage and have control of these lands today, can anything be done against this, the answer is simple: Yes, but for that we have to go into many points and find many of their weaknesses as well as strengths, knowing the enemy is the best way to get to break free from their control and / or end up defeating them.

Chapter 2 - The Great Dome

Before going into each of the worlds, it is necessary to make a caveat and clarify what "The Great Dome" means and what we mean when we mention it.

"The Great Dome" or also called "The end of the known", is that which covers and encloses in some way all the other known worlds, very few were able to see this end and even "touch" it, can it really be touched? Moreover, it is said that some experiments were made to be able to cross it but it was not possible, it is the terror of several colonizing civilizations that do not sleep peacefully, since any race from outside could take away from them from one day to the other the power that they maintain in that hierarchical pyramid that they themselves built during history. Another world that generates terror for them is the "Celestial Lands" but we will have time to detail this mysterious place that has a great relationship with the human being. In this "Great Dome" there are 178 worlds or "circle-environments", which in turn may have one or several domes that also enclose them with their different climates and civilizations.

Penetrating these domes of each circle is not an easy task. As time went by, the technique was perfected and now there is a lot of technology to carry it out, but this was developed exclusively by colonizing races, many other races explored surrounding these worlds or simply the independent lands (lacking domes).

These domes are almost impossible to cross via air, and almost always another way is sought by land, but the most common is that it can be done through water which is where they are more easily found the way to open passages that can connect the inner-outer worlds, almost like two membranes in any cell, functioning as a barrier that can allow at a certain time the passage.

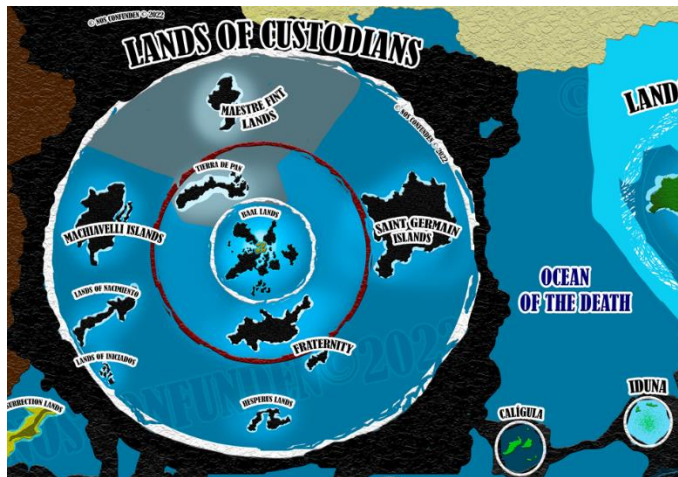

(When you have greater control to be able to penetrate some specific domes, it can be done via air without much inconvenience, although it can be quite dangerous for reasons that we will see later). Much later many portals were found in several "Circle-Environment" connecting even several of the worlds, the manipulation of these portals was so great that many problems were caused and some became unstable making some beings have disappeared without knowing where they really went or if this caused that their matter has disintegrated. Today it is common to find beings in full development of portals that can connect certain areas within the Great Dome, without ever having been able to penetrate it.

When we speak of the 178 worlds we are not referring to the independent lands that exist between worlds, these are lands that exist and were used by various races when they could go outside, in fact, it is said that these lands exist to avoid long distances that connect the worlds, It is fervently believed that the worlds were made to investigate them and that all of us, in one way or another, are going to go outside to look for our freedom, to know other races and to be able to enter someday in what can be found in the "Celestial Lands" as well as behind the "Great Dome".

The story goes that humanity, in a way, comes from these lands, and that each of the humans have "The Source" or "Life Energy" (also called "soul") that comes from these lands, therefore, the human destiny is to confront the Custodians, that whatever is done the great clash will be inevitable.

Although it has already been tried and the great forces between humans and custodians have collided (with the help of the Anakim Giants and others), history will surely repeat itself again in these lands, for that reason we are very aware of everything that happens here, any opportunity to free humanity will be used to the fullest, also we cannot make the mistakes of the past, otherwise it is possible that now we may never have another opportunity.

For each reset, the security becomes stronger, and the human standard of living becomes less and less free, the humanity that is living now is nothing like that of my ancestor in these same lands, nor that of my ancestor to the previous one, each reset is worse, stricter, with less freedom and greater manipulation. We escaped from these lands during the "Great War" against them, the Giants helped us to form a large block and confront them before everything got out of control, unfortunately when the hard defeat came we knew that everything was going to get worse for those born here, besides they know that many escaped and that we would be a danger to all the manipulation and lies in these lands that they spread and control.

It would be difficult to generate another "New Great Tartary" with all the free technology and the great cities that we were able to forge, the truth is that we had the hope that victory and freedom would finally be ours, but, by those things of destiny we did not achieve it. We know that it was very close, but it is also true that defeat would bring more misery to a new humanity, the risk was very high. The babies who are less than seven months old are left at the disposal of the Custodians in these lands, who with their technology take them little by little to a new beginning.

This beginning is sudden and in various parts of the known continents, so there will always be a part that will not have parents, grandparents, and so it will be until forgotten.

Once the number they set is reached, they will begin to manipulate the human to take them on the path they have decided. The vestiges of a past life will be intermingled as their own, even if the human of that time cannot reproduce it nor have the necessary tools, nothing will be questioned as long as everything can be demonstrated by the great leaders, or media, scientists, historians, scholars, celebrities and all kinds of fictitious prestige that they will invent depending on what stage of development the race is in.

The technology will be delivered in small installments until it can reach the level that is also previously established by the leaders.

The Custodians are arrogant beings who detest the human being, for them the human being is a horrible being, who smells bad and does not deserve any freedom, the custodial leaders are really hostile and always were hostile to our race.

That is why they control it, but they also do not allow anything to get out of the pre-established control, they would even carry out a reset before knowing that at least a single human could escape.

The leaders many times met with the intention of eliminating the human race, but there was much debate about it, especially for the tasks that are carried out here, that would bring much discussion among the same Custodians, plus there is a small part that has great relationship with the leaders, many are part of lodges, military or politicians who came to have direct contact with them and were rewarded with their passage to other lands, for example the existing colony in "The Lands of Mars". The story of the "last reset" where my grandparents were able to escape along with my mother, who at that time was a baby, was due to the Great War that took place in these lands more than 250 years ago, put on alert this race who thought they dominated these lands with ease, until the union of giants and humans really shook their power. In the War it is said that one of their most important leaders died at the hands of the Giants-Humans and this also caused that the new human beginning in these lands (with babies of a few months) was carried out under a strict control and manipulation, it is what we are seeing in the current days and what we will continue to see in the near future if things do not change. The Custodians are carnivores for the most part, although they can really eat all kinds of food, do they eat human flesh? I will come back to this question later, as I think it is worth talking about.

They know agriculture well, being pioneers and experts in that field, something they inculcate and educate the human after each reset to carry out these tasks of agriculture and animal husbandry, so that they can then increase their population as fast as possible.

They receive pleasure from human fear or sadness, all that "negative" energy can be "absorbed" by them that they really end up enjoying it, that is why it is common to see great sacrifices in ancient civilizations, or great tragedies, the thirst for human blood, they enjoy these sacrifices and in many stories we can find that they "feed" on this.

They reached a great development in the modification of the climate, and it is common that they create great walls of ice around the colonized lands, this they began to use in the last times since before they had not reached this development.

The walls serve them as a great shield to be able to "protect" or enclose even more the colonized races, in this way it is very difficult for them to escape even when they have to leave some worlds by necessity to go in search of another.

This race is confused in several of the stories that are told in the Known Lands, in a casual and often deliberate way, but we find in several stories and books of the Known Lands the Anunnaki as reptiloid or reptilian beings, but the reality is that they are beings of very tall stature (can reach 5 meters), They live in an arid zone with little vegetation, and although the "Waters of Horus" seem to be paradisiacal beaches from far away, the reality is that they are deep waters and in them live snake-like animals that can measure up to 55 meters long and that do not like the visit of other beings from outside.

Their skin color is yellow-greenish, although their leaders can have a totally different tonality, but all of them have very dry, scaly skin, and their eyes are distinguished by being yellow, red or black, and they have a particular iris (that other beings also share) that is characterized by a cleft, depression or gap and can be both uni and bilateral, generally dark in color. During the many civilizations in the known lands both the Anunnaki and the Custodians (usually the former) have been depicted in many forms with humanoid bodies and with different heads of animal types, reptiles, birds, and a myriad of them. Thus, confusing the true history of the human being and conditioning the human mind throughout his life by these parasitic beings. They are beings that lack all empathy and are based solely on the oppression of other beings and the conquest, the thirst for power and control. In this they are very similar to the Custodians and that is why, they have preferred to share that position than to kill each other, although tension is always expected between these two races, which could be convenient for all the other worlds that are under their power.

Chapter 5 - The Lands of Venus

The original beings of these lands also called "Venusians" and unlike those of Mars, they survived all colonization, but how? It is still not known for sure how these beings were able to make fun of the brutal colonization they suffered long before the Custodians took the Known Lands.

According to some legends within the giant race, the first humans thought to make contact with the original Venusians in order to form a block against the colonizers and thus, learn from each other, this happened in the beginning just before the Custodians took the first humans by surprise and they ended up being colonized in the Walled Lands.

There are theories that some of the early humans who started in the lands of Asgard, Lemuria and Atlantis (in conjunction with a portal connection to Hyperborea) may have escaped before the first Custodial attack and possibly settled in the lands of Venus. The Venusians are beings who base their technology purely and exclusively for spiritual development and benefit on their path of ascending or transcending internally, they did not possess weapons of destruction for attack and defense, this the Custodians saw as easily accessible, once they penetrated their world-environment they thought that everything would be simple in those lands.

The surprise came when the Custodians set foot on the Lands of Venus and a great storm hit this Circle-Environment very suddenly, they did not take note of it at that time as they thought it was the weather there, but as the days passed they saw that the storm never receded and they could not find a single Venusian on the surface (the storms never ceased until the last Custodian did not cross the Dome to the outside). With Custodial technology they began to notice that the Venusians were underground, in bunkers of a technology hitherto unknown to them, and the storm raging up there on the surface was truly devastating. The Trustees gathered to come to a decision soon, they were not going to stay there much longer.

In fact, many trustees started revolts and didn't see the point in dying up there, things got pretty complicated for the leaders.

Many saw it as a failure, and others thought of returning at another time, but true to their history they did not give in, and many Custodians died on Venus, even a very important leader is said to have fallen in those distant lands.

The conquest of Venus for the Custodians was a failure, in fact, they did not fight against the Venusians who did not possess weapons, if they had them I think it would have been a crushing defeat for them, when the story was known in other Circle-Environment they tried to imitate it, but with disastrous results, later we will comment on that point.

The technology that the Venusians had been developing was not overnight, it was years and years of progress and those bunkers had everything, high level subway connections, the Custodians tried to block and even destroy the area with explosives and missiles, but for each attempt many Custodians died because the areas near the bunkers were also full of explosives and other technology that hindered even the approach. A Custodial leader already at the end of this failed invasion met with a Venusian leader, as it was feared that the Custodians might try to blow up the entire surrounding circle in retaliation, no one really knows what was discussed or what happened that day, but the Custodians left the Lands of Venus in the worst way, with heavy casualties and a defeat to their credit.

We know because the Venusians themselves told us that in this meeting, besides pleading for peace in their lands, they would have asked for the liberation of the humans, which was totally rejected.

Chapter 6 - The Lands of Draco

The Draco or also known as "Etamines", are the inhabitants of the Draco Lands, northwest of the Known Lands, crossing the Lands of Venus.

These beings that once visited our lands are known for their great technological advance in weapons for attack and defense, as well as great psychic development.

Some of their beings can communicate telepathically, using this technique to subdue any colonizing enemy, or even to colonize other lands.

The Etamines, by means of a treaty, achieved a union with the Custodians, but at the beginning this was not so, but the Custodians attacked their lands when they were not in their most advanced stage, but on the contrary. The Draco Lands lack islands, but two large continents are found with great vegetation, in fact, the most exotic plants of any other Circle-Environment within the Great Dome exist there. Its great wall of Ice was never an impediment to be able to cross other Domes and conquer some lands (These walls were left by the Custodians when they decided to put an end to the total manipulation of their environment, did they stop manipulating them? we really wonder, we think not)

They started by lands outside the Domes, like their nearby land Osiris, but then they moved their technology to the islands of Anubis, many of these beings stayed in these paradise islands, but they use there many of the military bases for weapons development.

What happened in the ancient battle between Etamins and Custodians?

The Custodians finally won at the beginning since the Etamines as we mentioned had not achieved the progress they have today, but it was not easy nor did they surrender, since they knew their lands well and are experts in making large tunnels, the Custodians had to use advanced technology to finally achieve victory in those lands and leave their mark on the walls of ice surrounding the Dome in that "Circle-Environment".

The Draco lands were also visited by other races, such as the Anunnaki, and inhabitants of other nearby lands, such as the famous "Greys" that inhabit The Orion Lands.

The links with these beings led to the fact that today both races live together in a true fraternity, both in Draco and Orion, the Etamins and Greys can be found together.

The age at which these beings can reach is approximately 192 years, compared to the years of the Known Earths. While the Custodians infected their atmosphere and the air they breathe at the time of their attack, as of today they have no diseases nor any great war being waged, although they are spiteful beings and it would not be strange if they are planning to colonize other lands or perhaps a revenge towards the Custodians, but this is all mere speculation.

A great flood that still disconcerts its inhabitants was generated at the beginning, a strange wall surrounds its coasts, it is technology that they are carrying out, it is said that it is used as radar and that it could attack any enemy that wanted to cross them, the surveillance system of their lands increased in the last time, product of the fear that the great colonizers still have for what could be outside this great Dome.

It is possible that the Custodians and Anunnaki are very interested in this type of wall to replace the ice walls they create.

Chapter 7 - The Lands of Mars

Lands of Mars, who inhabits or inhabited these lands that lie behind the Walls of Ice and The Mountain Walls? There lies this great world, crossing the second Dome and traversing lands that few humans have ever seen. Mars has great incidence in the Known Lands since in those lands several events related to humanity happened and still happen today. This immense "Circle-Environment" and misnamed "Red Planet", harbored a great and diverse life within its Dome. This native Martian civilization was reportedly totally annihilated by the colonizers, so why wasn't part of it left for possible further development, or even for some kind of manipulation by the colonizers themselves? Apparently this race was firm in their convictions based on their morals and ethics, preferring to die and extinguish their race in battle rather than beg for freedoms in quotas under conditions that colonization would impose. The Anunnaki at the end of their mission realized that not a single Martian was left standing, since the last ones even committed suicide, they were surprised, since they did not expect this to happen, in fact, it was their first colonization and after this they took precautions. The original Martian race was known in later studies, was an advanced race in its technology that prioritized the spiritual growth and welfare of their community.

They had little military training and technology, so their defense was almost nil.

The Custodians soon took the great lands and grouped in the great centers taking advantage of all the knowledge and progress that was left there.

Nowadays the lands of Mars are simply experimental lands where several races coexist and generate wars between them and different reasons for almost eternal conflicts.

The leaders of these lands are both Anunnaki and Custodians. There is a community of humans, mostly made up of people who belonged to small groups and earned their passage only by their hard work in betraying their own race in their homelands. The best known member who might even be living in the Human Colony of the "last humans" (I am referring to the last reset), would be the well-known explorer Rear Admiral Richard Byrd.

Who knew how to be on the other side for a long time, and to confess some truths before giving himself up completely. Some of the many stories that we have out there and that are written today to keep the truth away from the "Terra-Infinita" and the civilizations that live behind the ice barriers and the Domes that separate them. In the Lands of Mars also coexist the famous "Greys" and some minor draconian colony or also known as "Etamines".

Between the Greys, the human colony, there is a rivalry existing since almost the beginning of the transportation of the Custodians to the humans there. The Custodians and Anunnaki monitor everything very well and do not miss any detail of them, what had begun in the "Clone Lands" today takes place in these lands, possibly this transfer is due to the time difference that exists in that environment.

There time, as in many other Circle-Environments, or lands within different domes, is different from the lands of Mars.

For this reason the passage to Mars of humans is always welcome, despite the dangers involved since it is a one-way ticket to a long life of almost 500 years in comparison. There are also other races almost all moved by the Custodians in their frantic conquests of their 178 Circles or worlds.

And many other races originating from different sectors were also moved there.

The lands of Mars are considered as in a large zoo, where different behaviors, confrontations and conflict resolution are studied, a huge farm of exhaustive monitoring and analysis of races.

Chapter 8 – Lands of Neptune

Nereida, Triton and Poseidon, the name of their lands that shine in the dark atmosphere that surrounds their "Circle-Environment". The "Neptunians" have had a hard time since their birth, not because they have not been able to adapt to their environment and survive in a climate where vegetation is not abundant, but because the sandstorms and the aridness that encloses this world can be really devastating, for that reason most of the big cities were created on the shores of their most fertile lands, leaving a large portion uninhabited. Anyway, the Neptunians managed quite well to carry out colossal creations, there are buildings so tall that exceed twice the size of the Known Lands, silence is the faithful companion that will go with you wherever you go in this dark world, as its Sun is also very different from those of the vast majority and is totally opaque.

Throughout the time and with the great technological development that they knew how to carry out, nothing of the climate nor of the darkness was a great obstacle for them.

There are also large cities with very high constructions, many pyramids, since the Anunnaki were the ones who entered this world and took over their environment after a long time.

Recall that the Pyramids are key to the Anunnaki colonization that first starts with friendly and supposed technology exchanges between beings, the Anunnaki can be really great swindlers and lie to their leaders to generate a close bond, and then stick the cold dagger in the back.

Overnight the "Neptunians" were left with nothing, as the Anunnaki had planned everything from the beginning, and everything went as expected.

It is said that this is one of the first lands where they penetrated and ended up colonizing.

The natives of these lands could not cope with any technology like that, although we can assure that it was still in full development, but by that time the Neptunians had opened a long spiritual and developmental path focused on real personal and spiritual improvement, to cross the Great Dome after transcending matter. But it is not that they left the defense to chance, but they had developed a great military power that did not end up serving against the colonizers, although they did get a big scare when they rebelled.

In the beginning the Neptunians accepted defeat, but as these beings were used for certain tasks within their own lands that obviously ended up directly benefiting the Anunnaki "bosses", they rebelled against them generating several pockets of fierce fighting.

Then the casualties on both sides began, and everything got out of control in the center of these lands. Triton became the epicenter of absolute chaos, the blue blood of the natives was spilled in great quantity, the Anunnaki are still today their great enemies, and that after years they reached an agreement to withdraw from their lands.

Today the Neptunians live in peace and with a high development in technology that benefits their environment, their spiritual growth and they are in peace with the neighboring lands and races, but according to the story they prepare in silence for any new attack that could come from the nearby Anunnaki lands or other lands that could generate some danger for them.

Do the Neptunians travel to other lands?

It is said that they have traveled to other lands to investigate how other races live, to generate certain links and to be able to explore their environment, but it is said that they have not visited the Known Lands or spoken to any leaders at any time.

Although they do know the Lands of Mars and have been able to make contact with the "Human Custodial Colony" located there.

As I commented in previous paragraphs, the Neptunians are a race of dark blue color, they feed on local fruits since based on their system they cannot ingest a great variety of foods, they do not eat meat, and they have a certain friendly relationship with the Custodians, although it is not well known why, since they are generally beings that always sought their freedom and independence.

Chapter 9 - The Lands of Uranus

The "uranians" or "uranites" are of pinkish skin, the tonality of their eyes are completely dark, although there are exceptions of completely white eyes that give the appearance of having visual difficulty, but the reality is that their sight is hyper developed being able to see to great distances and taking advantage of this as a great opportunity to be able to explore other lands.

They have not achieved great technological development, nor are they advanced spiritual beings.

They have long winters, for this reason there are temperatures that become very low during almost the whole year (referring to the local year), 42 years in the Known Lands can be approximately a year and a half difference, compared to the first ones. They are long-lived beings, although they are still today under the Custodial domain, and their climate was totally modified, as well as their complete "Circle-Environment".

Today their life span has been shortened because they began to suffer from strange diseases due to the alteration and manipulation of their bodies in laboratories.

The Custodians penetrated their world when the "Uranites" were at an early age of their development, at first the Custodians had not been interested in them nor in the minerals of their world, but then everything changed when they discovered large quantities of an important mineral under their lands.

There are large excavations (craters) on their surface, their lands look as if they were torn by titanic hands, the reality is that this was caused by Custodial machinery in the process of excavation. The locals work there under great pressure and almost enslaved by the parasitic colonizers.

The little development thereafter is strictly due to this reason, the Custodians do not want under any circumstances that these beings get to develop even moderately.

The uranites today are grouped only in the main lands (their core) called "Titania", they are generally giant beings that can reach 4 or 5 meters in height, they have two very long arms and feed exclusively on vegetables that grow in these lands or around them.

The other lands that surround the great walls of this enormous world are of similar climate to those of the Lands of Neptune.

Chapter 10 - The Lands of Jupiter

In this huge "Circle-Environment" we find several lands and each of them has different ways of life.

The natives of these lands identify with their birth lands and are clearly divided among themselves, there being great wars in the past between different factions of the same race.

They live in almost constant internal warfare, this is due to the influence of the Anunnaki when they invaded their lands in an early age.

The vast majority and those who rule today are in the center (their core) called or known as "The Land of Zeus". According to the history that could be gathered from this interesting world is that one of the high ranking Anunnaki leaders lived or still lives in these lands along with the leaders of the Jupiter Lands.

Both the Zeus-born and the "Europeans" currently rule and have the other part of the population (Tebe, Adrastea, Elara, Amalthea, Ganymede, Callisto, Ersa and Pandia) in constant conflict with each other, using the division to be able to continue ruling and manipulating the rest of the civilization.

Special mention for "Metis", these lands are used only by the leaders, and no other being can enter without their permission. They are beings with great development in destructive weapons for attack and defense, and have almost no spiritual development, they are based on a hierarchical pyramid instituted early by the Anunnaki.

Pyramids are found almost everywhere in the lands of this world, as a flag of clear control by this parasitic race.

Contact with humans happened on the Known Earths long ago, exactly three "resets" or reboots ago. They show clear hostility to almost all other races, even had several conflicts with the Custodians.

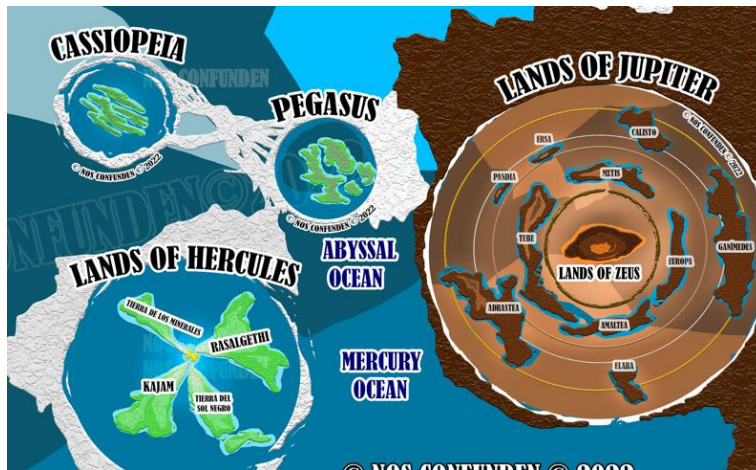

They studied the human being for a while, since they have large laboratories with great scientific advances for the modification and manipulation of beings.

These beings are of short stature in comparison (1.40 to 1.50 meters) are known for their particular eyes and a big head. They are carnivorous and feed mostly on animals that are born on the surface of their lands.

Chapter 11 – Pegasus

The lands of Pegasus, near Jupiter and Hercules, became a great headache for several races for a long time. The beings that were born there were identified by their wings, which they created basing their technology on exploration, not so much to the weapons they could use for attack and defense, much less to colonize other lands.

This played against them when they faced the Custodians when they visited their "Circle-Environment". But surely their surprise was greater when they found that these beings moved through the skies without great difficulty because of their great metallic wings that beat back and forth, almost dancing throughout the firmament of this beautiful world.

It required no great effort to take these lands, and the "Lantians" as they were called because of their great central lands, came to an agreement with the Custodians that ended up harming them extensively.

They lost much of the mineral wealth of their lands as well as shared their technological advancement and thus further helped the Custodians to advance in their development to penetrate the "Celestial Lands".

The "Lantians" realized too late the real plans of their colonizer, and several revolts were generated that ended in massacres of the winged ones. Some say that this race ceased to exist and there are other versions that have even seen them in other lands, but they are confused with the beings called "angels" of the lands of the same name, since they are also close to the lands of Jupiter and they also have large white wings.

The Lantians usually wear their long white hair, with great development in alchemy and scientific advancement, they are not usually hostile to other races but brought their race to the critical point of its disappearance when fighting

Chapter 12 – Aldebaran

In "Aldebaran B" live the "taurinos/taurines" and they have a great relation to what you know from past stories like "The Minotaur", that monster with a bull's head and a human body. The taurines are a faithful reflection of that representation, and if we dig deeper, we could find a direct relationship between the taurinos and human beings in past resets, some stories of the giants confirmed that the taurinos fed on human flesh. But in recent times the taurines proved to be benevolent beings who were able to end the Custodial rule a very long time ago.

Since then they are not well regarded by the races that dominate within this "Great Dome" since they have saved several races and species that were about to become extinct, even those races that had not been able to develop their full potential due to attacks of the parasites already mentioned. Their genetic material has been modified several times, but they have not been able to modify their empathy and love for life in other worlds. It should be noted that at the beginning of their development this was not the case, for that reason great wars were carried out within their territory.

They are carnivorous beings (only) and nowadays they can be found scattered in several other "Circle-Environments", they are also beings that were dedicated from the beginning to the spiritual development, although they also have great knowledge in exploration ships and weapons.

I have had direct contact with some Taurians, as they have lived with the "Anakim" giants for a long time, have shared their technology and wisdom with us, and have helped us a lot to survive after the "Great War". It is very common that both Giants, Taurians, Titans and several other beings are represented in the stories told in their lands as evil beings that feed on their pain, suffering or even their flesh (although the latter in the remote past could be true), that is why the representations of their imposing figures are often rejected in the "new humanity". They are beings that can measure up to 4.5 meters in height, and are differentiated from the rest by their large horns that are often cut from small.

"Aldebaran A" has animal and plant life, but the Taurians do not want to live in that area because of a violent past where much blood was shed. A great internal war between beings of the two lands led to the complete extinction of people living there, for that reason and out of respect for the memory of all those who have lost their lives there, it was decided not to use them.

Chapter 13 - The Lands of Saturn

The "Saturnians" are beings of very tall stature, some reach up to 14 meters in height, their psychic development along with their imposing figures, makes them very strong beings, for that reason and for their great technological advancement, they were never conquered by any parasitic race.

These lands, even though they are gigantic and attract attention because of their big rings, were not visited until relatively recently, when the Anunnaki visited them for the first time, they came to a quick agreement because they saw these lands and the native beings as very hard and difficult to colonize. The Anunnaki were coming from hard times of many wars in several places, especially in the Known Lands, and they did not want (or rather could not) have another big war, they knew they did not have much chance against the Saturnians, for that reason they preferred to have a friendly relationship with their leaders.

The funny thing is that when they tried to find leaders, they realized that it did not work that way there, the hierarchical pyramid of which they were so used to did not exist, there were no leaders or anyone representing their race, they simply all did it as a whole, their great psychic power united to carry out decisions that would satisfy everyone and benefit the entire race, these titans were really united.

The exploration ships they possessed were extremely advanced for the time, and it is said that they taught the Anunnaki a lot about "the Great Dome" as they were able to visit it on several occasions.

They flatly refused to help them to penetrate the "Celestial Lands" as they consider it sacred like so many other races.

These beings are frugivorous, they usually have a bluish color in almost all their body and white tones in their abdomen. These titans visited the known lands on several occasions during different resets, carrying thousands of stories that are today intermingled with mythology by Custodial manipulation. Some have been immortalized in the Known Lands, they can be found on large stones, mountains or trees as some suffered from Custodial technology long ago.

Along with the Anakim, these beings are feared by the Custodians and Anunnaki as they consider them a real danger in their plans to conquer the "Celestial Lands".

We could call them brothers of the beings of Zeta Reticuli, since their races intermingled and today they coexist together. In the time before the Great War, these beings were in control of the Known Lands for a short period of time, as the Custodian and Anunnaki leaders had had major uprising problems in another "Circle-Environment", this was taken advantage of by the Giants and Humans to carry out the largest uprising in history.

The Greys were defeated without being able to do anything but go in search of the Custodians, these beings were expelled from the Known Lands by the Giants, this they would never forgive them. And although there were later meetings with giant leaders, it is well known that they detest them and that the feeling is mutual.

The greatest leader of the gray beings died in the Known Lands, that generated that the hatred that they had for humanity was raised even more.

The Greys colonized independent lands, but never came to dominate any other "Circle-Environment" on their own, the beings of Zeta Reticuli were colonized by the Anunnaki and used in their great expeditions towards the exploration of other lands, on the other hand the Greys of Orion followed a similar path, but on the Custodial side.

With the great difference that the Orion Greys really revealed themselves when the human uprising existed, the death of their great leader caused a deep hatred towards the Custodians for the task of taking care of other people's lands. Several battles existed between them, which further facilitated the power of the Great Tartarians in the Known Lands.

Although it was never managed to have them as allies since they hate humans, the truth is that there was an exchange of technology between gray leaders and humans, but they fell into the hands of the elite and were used against and for the destruction of the race itself.

Grey beings can also be found in the Mars Lands, which is a large experimental land where both the Custodians and the Anunnaki jointly control. The human colony there clashed several times against the Greys, but were defeated in all those battles.

They use cloning to subsist as a race and are very robotic in their functions, they are devoid of any kind of emotion or empathy. They came very close to being totally exterminated in the past.

Chapter 15 – Pleiades

The "Pleiadians" are very close to the known lands, they are very tall beings that keep great physical similarity with the Norse. It is said that their ancestors survived the battle of Asgard against the Custodians, and then escaped to those lands in the Pleiades. They are generally benevolent to humans, but made a peace pact with the Anunnaki during an early age of their development.

They rely on your spiritual development and improving your living conditions. Their "Circle-Environment" is believed to have been manipulated by the Anunnaki since almost their beginnings, for that reason they suffer "natural disasters" from time to time. Trying to improve their current situation, although their lands seem to be destroyed at an accelerated rate.

It is believed that this was implanted to force them to have to escape from there and seek refuge in the known lands. Although many of these beings visited the known continents (especially the northern entrance through Asgard), they do not feel comfortable coexisting with humans. They looked for other alternatives, but they were a failure, they also failed to live in any of the lands behind the "Walls of Mountains".

These beings did not help the humans in the Great War, although neither did they help the Custodians, they simply stayed on the sidelines, although there is a good relationship with the giants, they are not seen with good eyes as allies, since they showed no interest in humanity in delicate moments of history.

Anyway, their great spiritual advancement is worthy of learning, they are beings that could help humans on their way, and lately there are more Pleiadians entering the known lands.

It is estimated that in the near future they could migrate in large numbers and coexist in these lands, accepting certain Custodial conditions, perhaps this is happening right now.

Chapter 16 – The Lands of the Clones

This is indeed a very strange earth, it was created as a totally experimental "First Mars Earth", although it was not used for a long time until they transferred the idea to the "Mars Earths".

The first to penetrate this "Circle-Environment" were the Anunnaki, finding only life in a very early stage of development. It was immediately used to transport some of the then dominant races to create an experimental site for conflict resolution and inter-race development, but this did not prosper and it was almost destroyed.

Then it was used as cloning lands, to save lives of important leaders of the different races, for that reason it has that characteristic name. There was an escape of beings that were used for cloning that had to be chased in order not to generate great commotion in the different worlds. This also happened with human beings who were used for cloning, who escaped from there, these beings were robotic and lacked any feeling or empathy, no doubt all this was another aberration of the parasites.

This experimental land today is completely abandoned, they are one of the many forgotten lands that someday maybe someone can reuse, the Pleiadians also have these lands in view to make a massive relocation, but the truth is that it is not known what can be found there, since the large laboratories were abandoned overnight.

Chapter 17 - The Reptilians

These beings are often mistaken for Anunnaki or other beings, but the reality is that they live far away from the Known Lands. Although they have visited them on several occasions and have made direct contact with leaders, they are beings who prefer to live far away from other worlds. Their homes are generally built underground, and these advanced reptiles have shown great hostility to humans on several occasions they have encountered them. Generally if they visit other worlds, they do so to implant subway bases that could be used in the future, since they monitor everything from there with their advanced technology.

Although they have a whole Circle-Environment for themselves as "The Lacerta Lands", most of them prefer to live in "The Island" near that world. There they have a large subway city and although they live in independent lands, they seem to prefer it that way. They have had in the past great wars against the Anunnaki, and are considered of great advancement and development of weapons for destruction. These Beings have earned their due respect from the great colonizers, have never been used as beings for inferior tasks, nor have they been able to bend them in any way. It is very possible that if they had to choose a side they would go in favor of the Custodians in a possible future war against humanity.

Chapter 18 - Celestial Lands and Other Extraterrestrial Worlds

There are many other worlds that are being left out of this book, and that soon will also be detailed about them. There are so many extraterrestrial races that struggle to survive in a system that seems to leave to mere luck the fate of each one, those who survive or those who die.

It should also be noted that there are many others, although to a lesser extent, where peace and development reigns, perhaps because the parasitic races did not see or find anything interesting, perhaps they monitor them from afar or simply their development was subsequent to the visits in their lands and go unnoticed.

Other lands, as we have seen, did not even manage to develop completely when the parasites entered their worlds and emptied their lands along with their dreams, besides staining their history completely with blood, manipulated and changed their future forever.

The human being was broken and still could not twist the destiny for which he was created, his kingdom was taken a long time ago and it does not seem that they will leave the throne soon, perhaps it is time to reveal themselves to the despot king.

It is true that at least three colonizing races weigh on us, and although we are still standing we are being emptied spiritually every day, the death of the human being will not be physical, but it will be when we reach the point that there is no being in the Known Lands who knows that inside is his spiritual potential enough to change everything around. We must also learn from many other races that managed to overcome, we must follow some of their techniques to overcome the oppressive and manipulative power in which we live here, many of these races are willing to help in the path towards the awakening and human freedom.

It should not be forgotten that the Celestial Lands, the mysterious and hidden lands where the parasites could never enter (and that they tried with all their technology together), continue to keep our secret, the one that only we humans carry, "the Source of Life". Maybe we are the link to the other lands behind this Great Dome, the fear of the colonizers is real, because they cannot manipulate our essence, they only manipulate our physical environment, nothing can harm our inner self, it is time to wake up.

Chapter 19 - The Navigator's Daughter Born in the Ancestral Republic

Why the official versions do not inform us about these worlds and what is the reason for their visit to our lands?

Those questions are somewhat complex to answer quickly, but I will try, there are many continents behind what you know as "Poles", I would call them barriers or walls, they can be of ice as in Antarctica and in several other parts, as well as mountains, although there are several types of these barriers both in your known world and outside.

I have visited your lands so many times as I consider myself part of here, but the ancestors have even visited other worlds repeatedly, and thousands of other races have also visited us, both in a friendly way and in the most cruel way.

We could say that I am also part of here since my ancestors were born in these same lands and lived here until the final day, since I was a child I was motivated by the idea of being able to return and step on the soil of my mother and grandparents. They gave up their lives for the freedom of our entire race.

My father is William Morris, and I must tell you that he was born in these lands like you, he had the fortune of being able to cross those imposed, artificial ice walls created by the same parasites that control them today and managed to find our lands, I mean "The Ancestral Republic" or whatever you want to call it.

There he met my mother and formed a great family, I have the best memories of my dear father that fortunately many are knowing little by little and soon a large part will know more about the lands where I was born.

Chapter 20 -WILLIAM MORRIS, The Man Who Tried to Change the Course of Humanity

My father with 34 years and a great experience in the Continental Navy met a person called Butler who was infiltrated in these lands and who had also been born in mine, for reasons that we cannot say, but with a team formed by several members experienced in war and above all their experience in maritime navigation, and despite the thousands of complications and threats they received, they were able to enter the polar zone and cross those Walls and then find our lands. It was easier for my father as he was obviously led by an experienced captain who knew the way very well.

It was not all random as it seemed at first in the story of the first book "The Navigator Who Crossed The Ice Walls", the reality is that Butler was an expert person in the subject of navigation, as he led the "Naval Council" in my homelands.

He has visited these lands many times more than the world imagines, he is one of those who has done and contributed the most to allow us to infiltrate here and put into action the plan that he had devised together with my father.

As I said before, they have fought together with many of us who continue fighting for these lands, which we keep in our hearts and which are as much our lands as theirs, although I do not feel at ease here for obvious reasons about the damned race that is in power and that manipulates and prevents its development freely, these lands should belong to the human being, I mean the real human being, not that false dome that only nods its head to what is imposed from above, it must be ours because that is how it was dictated from the "Celestial Lands" to Hyperborea, the human being should not seek to escape from here but to subdue its colonizer and expel it, I understand that what I am expressing is certainly very complex to carry out today, that is why an alternative plan was sought, which is to get humanity out of here before the next reset.

Chapter 21 - The Near Lands

Our lands have a name different from everything that has been named in the stories, and surely much of the continents abroad as well, although many keep the spirit of the great stories and battles that may never happened, I will not annihilate his dream or confuse it with names, besides I prefer that my lands remain for the moment with the name that some know it, "Ancestral Republic" is fine as it represents what we are, the surviving human ancestors prior to the last reset.

We are your ancestors, although the lands were different before the "Walls of Ice", our parents and grandparents were born, fought and some died here. You cannot imagine how many stories are told in my lands about the great heroes that were forged here, just as heroes were born in my lands who have done great deeds in these regions.

How is it that you speak English? What is the language in your lands?

In my lands a different language is spoken, native, especially in the main city, but we speak several languages of your lands, our parents escaped from these lands to start again in the outer lands, they escaped from all corners of this world that you know, then in the other lands different communities were created, but at the beginning, when this happened, each community was divided precisely by their culture, they began to create their own language and their own culture to generate links and that there are no divisions between the ancestral humans. Then, as time went by, many already used our native language and even forgot the language of their father or grandfather, this happens more, as I said, frequently in the big cities, but we try not to lose the connection with the past.

Why did your parents escape, or rather from what or from whom were they escaping?

They escaped from the worst war that has ever happened here, and they did it because there was no other alternative, escape or die, for all was lost.

Forgive me for getting emotional when I talk about this subject, my grandfather died in that battle as so many millions of others did too, my mother escaped being very small in my grandmother's arms, the giants saved many people for that we are eternally grateful.

Chapter 22 - The Giants of the Great Tartary Who Wanted to Liberate Humanity

The Giant race joined the human race in the previous reset, they came from outside to free us from the vile custodial oppression, they believed it was the right time to unite and wait until some of the custodial masters returned. The Great Tartary, the one that was erased from its maps and history, was the perfect union of giants and humans, that is why the past of the giants or the Giant-Humans was hidden forever, or simply their history was manipulated with tales full of lies mixed with mythology and in many ways they were sentenced as "enemy of the Gods". The truth is simple, and you will see it with your own eyes in the future, the only enemies of the Gods and of breaking the free development of the races, of uprooting and destroying the spiritual development not only here in the Known Lands but in many of the other lands, are without doubt the colonizers themselves, the enemy race that destroyed the dreams of the past and will destroy those of your future if you let them.

The Giants only show their greatness by staying hidden so as not to generate more harm to the current human being, since in the past everything has gone wrong and for that you are paying a very high price. These lands that are the only ones you know for now, have their oceans stained with ancestral blood, our blood, that tried to change everything, that were very close to achieve freedom forever.

Chapter 23 - Humans, Giants and Custodians, The Great War of the Last Reset.

The Great War started so fast that there was not even time to understand what was happening, the Custodians attacked the big cities, as they always do, they go directly to the central power to weaken everything from its core.

The giants warned in their visit to the Humans that the Custodians had the plan to contaminate the air that was breathed here in this World-Surroundings, it was already known about other continents beyond the Domes, but not in great detail, neither was it certainly known about the Custodial greed and hostility.

All this knowledge that we acquired with time and the help of the giants, was largely drawn from the information the Custodians had prior to the Great War. Another inferior race was in control of these lands and this was used to develop all the potential we could reach in the shortest possible time, incredibly organized plans were carried out, everything worked like a great clock, the advance of the Great Tartary was not done overnight, but neither was it long in terms of time in these beautiful but terrible lands. The walls did not exist back then, the continents were different, although they did not change by much, they manipulated their lands, their climate, their environment totally in the new beginning, they were never going to admit that they came close to losing their best colony, let alone in the hands of the "giant barbarians" as they call them, and the humans they really detest.

Chapter 24 - The Destruction of the Great Cities, The Fall of an Empire

The great cities were invaded by black smoke, the Giants brought technology and taught the humans in Tartary, the level of technology that was used at that time had never reached the hands of humans, it was a difficult process but they were achieving really great things, just the Great War came by surprise, although they expected it, they did not think it would come so fast.

Then came the great flood and different attacks, there came a time when we knew that all was lost.

The Custodians were weakened and those in power, the greys who were their lackeys, could not cope with the power of the Anakim, the giants who helped the Humans with their technology. There are several races of giants and not all of them joined in this war, in fact many of them split later because they did not agree to help, they saw it as a certain defeat.

At that time the hope of being able to defeat them was latent and that filled the spirit of any person who lived on this soil, the feeling that generates to finally be free is priceless and sometimes the dimension of what is taking place is not taken into account, that War was the cruelest that has happened here.

It also brought with it a great retaliation in a reset and a different beginning, what is being carried out at this moment, the system that oppresses you and turns you into a robot with mere biological functions, the spiritual emptying, how your mind is controlled, which does not stop for a second to give you messages and messages so that you cannot enjoy the present, All this is a product of that custodial fear of losing your best colony, unfortunately the Ancestors carry that, and the Giants too, for that and for many other reasons different plans are being carried out to free you and end once and for all this macabre system under which you live.

Many will ask, how is it that we can give all this valuable and at the same time dangerous information if it falls into the wrong hands? Your answer is that we can give this kind of information because the majority simply will not believe it, and what we say here today will be forgotten by the majority tomorrow, it is like when someone has some kind of different experience, with whatever race, or for example the story about my father and the lands where I was born, but it is different if the government of this world with all the mass broadcasting apparatus tell a lie, for example, that the sky you see every day is pink, then many will come out to repeat it and even fight to death with anyone who says that the sky does not have that color, even more if important scientists who have graduated from distinguished universities come out to say that anyone who argues that the sky is pink will be labeled as ignorant forever, and possibly affect him all his life, then you already have two things against you, the immense power of the word of the great media that are controlled and that enter every home around the world and also you have the word of confidence in quotation marks, of the great scientists of the best universities that will give the necessary strength to submerge the majority to a lie that will be taken as absolute truth, soon nobody will even discuss about this subject for fear of being catalogued as ignorant, some will not even want to look at the sky for fear that their own mind will tell them that it does not have the color that they say. A few others will fight against this lie without caring what they are told or that they will be ostracized from many places, or they will not even be allowed to talk about this subject with a simple censorship.

This is nothing new to you, look around you right now, this is what is happening, if you do not do or say what they impose, or simply what the media reports or what the distinguished expose then you will be labeled as someone who is on the opposite side of "progress", "advancement", or "development" of humanity (with many quotation marks). Possibly you will be ridiculed, attacked, sidelined, branded as a traitor or many other things, this is certainly unfair, the shadow controlling parasites who want total human degradation in conjunction with spiritual hollowing out can label another with their great means of influence and coercion and thereby destroy them completely. That is why we keep coming back to these lands and will continue to be here, to fight against this dangerous conditioning they exert.

Chapter 25 - The Last Resets in the Known Lands

The previous reset has been the cruelest of all, because they were close to losing control, it could not have been otherwise. It is even said that there were periods where humans and giants were controlling the situation, but once the four great centers fell, the millions of deaths left by the War, it was difficult to recover. We all knew at one point that we had been defeated, my mother has told me so many times this story which in turn was told by her mother, I already repeat it by heart, she was only a newborn, do you understand, they lived in a prosperous world and suddenly all their dreams were trampled, many found loved ones who had died next door, their houses were on fire or had disappeared, they used technology that you would not understand, they could even petrify beings, they had already done it in the past, they had to see themselves in a really desperate situation.

When all was lost the great flood began, as it is known here, the mud flood, in reality this happened in different forms but it dragged everything in its path, it was something of colossal dimensions, many of the humans that grew up after the last reset used vestiges of these monuments or buildings, even some had withstood the war and the flood quite well, They were resistant to ancestral technology, they were prepared for everything, that is why you will notice that many images of the past do not match the reality that people lived, the difference in technology and architecture, they mixed the history in such a way that it is difficult for you to understand it completely, but at least you will have an idea of how the whole process was taking place. The Resets, with some difference that existed, at least the ones I know of, are almost always carried out in the same way, they put a limit of years for the race they are controlling to develop and reach a point of knowledge and technology, they will always try to manipulate reality to reach that point as slow as possible, they take it really as a game, basically they will try to pause your spiritual growth and the truth about your origin and your World-Environment where you are, clearly they will never make themselves known nor will you have any kind of contact with them, but you will be able to find them in history in several possible ways and forms.

When a "reset" takes place, let's call it "natural", considering that the previously established limit of years was reached, they will make everyone over seven months of age die, this can also be decided in advance or it will simply be thought of at that moment in meetings of the "Parasite Dome".

The flood that my parents, grandparents and all that generation suffered was the same that would have happened in case we had reached the limit of years of development, only that they initiated this in an urgent way because of the war that had been unleashed, the last reset in these lands did not reach the time limit that they had established for our development, but we were not far away either if we consider that when the Giants visited and joined us in these Lands, they started to educate us about the Lands and the life behind this World-Environment, we started to learn too many things that they considered dangerous.

Not to make this answer so long, your babies of seven months or less than that will be left alive (not all, they will decide depending on many factors), those above that age will be killed or die in catastrophes of different kinds, this "World-Environment" is justly manipulated in its entirety by them, imagine you live inside a Greenhouse, you can understand it that way, you can make it bloom or poison it from one day to the next or even slowly.

Chapter 26 - The Continuing Journey of William Morris

My father returned to these lands, to the lands where he was born, he longed day after day planning over and over again how he could return to help those he considered he had left behind, "his brothers" as he referred to them. Knowing this great and painful truth was killing him every day, imagine knowing that your brothers were dying in there in a veritable hell of wars, manipulation and pestilence, and that nothing you could do on the other side, where your life was also in danger, for by then the Keepers had begun to attack the lands beyond, which until that time had been kept silent.

Not only that, but the Custodians had encountered a great city of Giants and Giant-Humans who were not only traitors to them, and therefore deserving of the worst punishment.

By all accounts, the Anunnaki did not decide to take part in these attacks and the Custodians were quickly expelled from my lands, the technology by then quite advanced thanks again to the help of the Anakim. This surprised the Custodians who returned to the Known Lands with the fear of the possibility of losing them. They then tried to reinforce the walls with all the technology and military possible, a time of ridiculous treaties and military bases all over the area was coming to prevent any human being from being able to reach this truth, now, was that enough to prevent our ships from getting through their bases?

Chapter 27 - The Infiltrators Double, So Do The Problems

When they least expected it the Custodians had in their most precious colony around 14000 infiltrated ancestors, this network we created was part of the Morris-Butler plan, together with giant leaders, and several races that also participated and still participate in silence for human liberation.

We knew the danger of infiltrating these lands, as the Custodians could never know that this amount was infiltrated, helping and informing many humans about the other worlds, the spiritual potential and the true human history, this could cause an immediate reset, everything was delicate and we could not be noticed in a treacherous way.

At the beginning it was not a big problem to overcome the barriers, military bases, custodial technology (with radars that even cause earthquakes) and a myriad of obstacles that we knew how to overcome. But, not everything was happiness and we knew that sooner or later it could happen, an alarm went off (earthquake) near what you know as Antarctic Peninsula or we know as "False Antarctica". A group of people traveling from The Ancestral Republic encountered a military base patrolling the area in an icebreaker. Our people sank the ship when they tried to escape, and this irremediably echoed in the great spheres, they began to chase everyone in every corner you can imagine.

With great lies and excuses they went into homes in many countries where they feared we were hiding for ten years or more, they searched for every clue and began to use technology to control the movements of the new humanity. Although they already had this type of technology, they completely reinforced it after the Peninsula incident.

All this complicated the plan, and it was a complete setback since we had people infiltrated in the high spheres, politics, lodges, organizations, companies, universities, etc. This was a bit of an ice water bucket since we had been counteracting with our technology any custodial detection and a great advance was being made to be able to finally carry out in a timely manner the transfer of many of the people who were beginning to awaken.

Many of the 14000 had to return, the fear was already a reality and some ancestors died in the worst possible way as they were sentenced as traitors, I will not detail the many tortures they suffered. Captain Butler returned to our lands in solitude, I will never forget that day, my eyes filled with tears because it was the day I knew I would never embrace my father again.

Chapter 28 - The Death of William Morris

Butler approached my mother and me, crestfallen, and his eyes in blood, he was also wounded in an arm and a leg, those ten or fifteen meters were the most eternal of my life, when he was finally close to us, he looked up and could not hold back his tears, my father had died in the Known Lands at the hands of custodial-military technology near the Antarctic zone.

The Custodians had delivered to commandos and military leaders of certain countries, advanced technology that they did not even know how to use, this was extremely dangerous for all life within the walled lands, in fact, the Custodians knew very well that this was a big mistake and put at risk their own colony, I think that although they were experienced in war, they did not handle well that a race could overcome them or the danger that entailed losing those lands.

They mistakenly decided to give technology unknown to the new humanity, only to help them in quantity against the Ancestors who were returning to their lands (many humans were also doing so with them). The humans were also given knowledge of weather modification and environmental manipulation, the Custodians really went into despair.

The ship ("Iron Blue") where my father was traveling along with some ancestors and humans of the new reset disintegrated in mid-air while crossing the Antarctic skies. A large invisible barrier was created by the Custodians just before the Dome, of course this was not known at the time and many ships were destroyed. To put it simply, they blocked the part of the Dome that we had opened by air. Butler was returning with William in another ship and told in detail about the death of my father, Butler managed to survive by a miracle.

It was undoubtedly the worst moment of my life and I really felt a lot of frustration and helplessness towards these lands, at that moment I lost track of Custodians and New Humanity, I only thought about if it was really worth my father dying for a cause that seemed lost from the beginning.

With time I understood and now I understand, I feel it in my heart, I am also part of these lands and I know that my father wanted as much as I do now, that humanity is freed forever.

This technology that the Custodians gave to some leaders of the new humanity had also brought several inconveniences within the Known Lands between countries that used part of this technology to threaten and even attack each other, the use also to make ships, planes and all kinds of transport disappear, people disappearing disintegrated to them. All this added to the knowledge given on the manipulation of the climate and the environment, was, in short, a chaotic era that continues today. It has been feared since then that humanity would be destroyed in absurd wars with the use of biological weapons, or that the Custodians would decide to reset for fear that they would be exterminated, or even that humans would use this technology to attack them, obviously the third option was the one that was farthest from happening.

Chapter 29 - Turning the Human Farm into Eternal Freedom

I understand that you may be wondering, so where did the whole plan go? And it is a question I want to answer before I finish.

Changes are going to happen, the plan was never abandoned, in fact, after my father's death, it impacted the Republic more as William was well loved along with Butler and they represented the face of freedom and the direct link to the known lands. The fight against the Custodians never ceased and we remain steadfast against their oppression, manipulation and control of these lands as well as other races, unfortunately we could not move to the next phase yet, because this takes time. The new humanity has a long way to go on this spiritual path, first it must free itself from its own mind, which controls it and does not leave it even a second to breathe, to be able to silence those inner voices that are nothing more than a custodial control that they implanted since the beginning of this last cycle. The thousands of thoughts that come into your minds control you and many times break your dreams, most of them are simply negative thoughts, the competition you are subjected to and the division between you for almost every cause that takes place here are really exhausting and can lead you to the easy path of surrender. This energy drain and sense of constant struggle to any race on any world would have wiped you out long ago and you are still standing, it only remains for the majority to know where the real enemy is, their macabre psychological games that generate division among you, and to break this control and conditioning.

The new humanity has an admirable resistance to adversity, and infinite potential for spiritual growth, which is something we must exploit and can be taught from an early age. They will instead try to manipulate the children with weapons and distraction, bombard their minds and continue to try to create robots that follow their dogmas and patterns without question. They will use the usual, the big media, the men and women recognized by degrees that are only given in the corrupt Universities that they call distinguished or outstanding, of which very few have access, they will also use the manipulated part of science and anyone who gets in their way they will try to ridicule them first and then attack them in every possible way. I do not mean to leave studies or the universities, but on the contrary, maybe one of the ways would be to enter there and be the best in each field to be able to modify from within everything that is corrupted or manipulated by them. Anyway we have a totally different system than the current one in these lands.

Within our plan is also this, to be able to enhance the greatness of the real scientific advancement, unfortunately the ancestral and giant-human advancement was destroyed or simply hidden from the new humanity.

We will continue with the struggle to make this humanity understand, that if they unite in true love nothing would stop them, that their brothers are out there and also in here waiting for the right moment, that we have never forgot them.

Many lost their lives trying to save them and it will continue to be so, the ancestral technology will continue looking for the way to end this control, there are many other races that overcame the Custodians and were able to free themselves, this is possible, but the human being will not be left easily because he has inside what no other race has, we are the "Source of Life", the possible reason for this Great Dome, and surely the direct connection to other worlds beyond, we are different and with a potential that few would imagine with all the conditioning received in a life in these lands. We are still in these lands and we will continue standing here, fighting together with you, those who woke up from this bad dream called human farm and want to turn it into an eternal freedom.
